

Drug Free Initiatives

Northeast Community College (Northeast) has adopted and implemented an Alcohol and Other Drugs (AOD) Workgroup to prevent the unlawful possession, use, or distribution of illicit drugs and alcohol by students and employees. The AOD Workgroup is representative of students, faculty, staff and community members. On-campus residents complete an online alcohol, drug, and sexual violence prevention course prior to occupying Northeast's housing facilities. Numerous alcohol and drug education programs are presented each academic year for students, faculty, and staff.

Northeast is also a member of the Nebraska Collegiate Consortium to Reduce High-Risk Drinking. The Consortium provides support for college campuses across Nebraska who are committed to reducing high-risk drinking.

Health Risks

1. Risk of Dependency – The risk of developing alcohol and drug dependency is related to the following factors: genetic factors inherited from parents, the level of addictive and risk potential of the drug used, family and peer-related childhood experiences, and current life situation and peer group.

2. Short-Term Effects – The disinhibiting effect of alcohol is one of the primary reasons it is utilized in social situations. Other effects include: slurred speech, dizziness, impaired judgment and coordination, vomiting/nausea, and likely, a hangover several hours later that could consist of a headache, thirst, nausea, dizziness, and fatigue.

3. Long-Term Effects – The long-term effects of consuming large quantities of alcohol, particularly when combined with poor nutrition, can lead to permanent damage of vital organs such as the liver and brain. Other long-term effects are cirrhosis, pancreatitis, certain types of cancer, obesity, heart disease, alcohol withdrawal syndrome, and gastrointestinal disorders. Extended substance abuse can cause coma, respiratory arrest, and convulsions. Injected drugs increase the risk of infectious diseases such as hepatitis and AIDS. The liver, lungs, and heart are also damaged. Mothers who drink alcohol during pregnancy may birth children with Fetal Alcohol Syndrome.

4. Effects of Overdose – The cause of an alcohol or drug overdose is either by accidental overuse or by intentional misuse. Symptoms of overdose may include an increase, decrease, or absence of vital signs (temperature, pulse rate, respiratory rate, and blood pressure); skin may be cold and sweaty or hot and dry; chest pain; breathing may become rapid, slow, deep, or shallow; and shortness of breath may also occur. Symptoms may also include sleepiness, confusion, abdominal pain, nausea, and/or vomiting blood. Overdose of some drugs can cause transient damage to certain organ systems. Brain damage resulting from suppression of lung and heart function is generally permanent. If the mental health issues that led to an intentional overdose are not addressed, the person remains at risk for recurrent drug overdoses. Multiple overdoses can lead to injury, organ failure, and/or death.

Institutional Code of Conduct/ Disciplinary Sanctions

The Northeast Code of Conduct clearly prohibits the unlawful possession, use, or distribution of illicit drugs and the possession, use, or sale of alcohol by students and employees on its property or as part of any of its officially recognized activities. The laws of the State of Nebraska pertaining to the possession and use of illicit drugs and alcoholic beverages on public property shall be followed. Specifically, this means that it is a violation of the alcohol and drug policy for students or employees to purchase, distribute, manufacture, possess, consume, or sell such items on college premises and at college-sponsored events.

Student and employee violations of the code or policies shall result in any one or a combination of the following disciplinary sanctions:

- Warning/sanction
- Disciplinary probation
- Suspension/expulsion/termination/eviction
- Referral to an appropriate drug/alcohol treatment program
- Referral to law enforcement agencies
- Any other action considered necessary by college officials

Definitions and accompanying procedures of these sanctions pertaining to students can be found in the Student Code of Conduct. Those pertaining to employees are included in College Policies and Procedures and the Faculty

Handbook. The Director of Student Conduct should be notified of any violations by students. The Associate Vice President of Human Resources should be notified of any violations by faculty/staff.

Students and employees accused of violating the drug/alcohol policy as established shall have the right to:

1. A hearing before the Director of Student Conduct and/or the Associate Vice President of Human Resources, and
2. Access to appeals as defined within the College Policies and Procedures and Student Code of Conduct.
